Innovative meeting room and breakout space transformation for council offices in Oxford.

For over a decade, we have been privileged to be associated with Oxfordshire County Council and have been providing them with office furniture solutions for County Hall and many of their subsidiaries.

Recently, we were sent a quote request that contained requirements for their County Library in Westgate, Oxford. Our product knowledge and deep understanding of the client's requirements enabled us to source the required products, making sure they were of top quality and met the client's budget.

Meeting/Training Room Area
The specification for the meeting room area was to provide a bright and comfortable workspace that could easily be adapted with flexible tables and seating. To achieve the requirements of the brief, we provided versatile trapezoidal tilt-top tables and mesh back meeting room chairs, with upholstered seat pads, and stylish black frames. The products provided a customised solution to meet the needs of different teams and purposes, whether it's a brainstorming session, a presentation, or training, this meeting room space delivers the ideal environment for collaboration, creativity, and innovation.

Canteen/Breakout Area
The specification for the multipurpose canteen and breakout space was to provide an open and comfortable area for the council's teams to eat, relax or collaborate in a welcome space away from their desks. The layout and furniture work in harmony to provide a relaxed atmosphere that's still conducive to productivity, making it an ideal spot for the council's teams to recharge and rejuvenate during their busy workday.

Summary
Oxfordshire County Council's new workspace inspires productivity and creativity with its bright and inviting ambiance. The dual-purpose environments provide ample room for both collaborative teamwork and focused individual work in the meeting room, and a functional and aesthetically pleasing canteen/breakout space. Having a space that is versatile and adaptive is becoming more and more important in today's work culture and we hope the team enjoys their new workspace now and in the future.
